

The Heist by Paul J Lane

ELIA

I believe you fully understand the gravity of our situation

These so-called Government Agents are under our skin and must be removed swiftly

The clock is ticking but so is their body count, never underestimate the darkness that makes the angelic shine

Our man is on the inside and knows exactly what to do

Cover all cameras so our insider can be the eyes of the sting

He's one of the best, all he needs is his moment to kill

The decoy team is set to draw them all in like lambs to the slaughter

They will feel in complete control with their interrogation

And when they least expect it, they will be crushed and our city will be ours again

They will mourn their dead as will we in our victory

Because as you know, you cannot stop lions that watch the cries of angry sheep before the kill
